The accounts we have from the Lane Seminary are full of interest. — The case of little Henry Scott is truly affecting.

~~Shall ever be glad~~ It will ever give me pleasure to hear from time to time, if you have leisure, of the progress of the Society — I am greatly obliged to you for inserting the names of of the members in your letter — & for a copy of the constitution which I received yesterday — I was happy to find that Miss S. Paul was chosen as one of the counsellors. — Remember me most affectionately to the members of the Society, and praying that the blessing of God may crown all their efforts to promote this cause

I subscribe myself yours most respectfully

Wrentham, May 10th 1834.

Dear Miss Grew,

Your letter dated April 11th in behalf of the Boston Female Anti Slavery Society, (with the enclosed certificate from Mr Odiorne) has been most gratefully received. I should have replied immediately, but have been prevented by circumstances which I could not control. I write this morning, to request you to express my gratitude to the ladies of the Society, for the "memento of respect & esteem, which they have given me, in making me a life-member of the New-England Anti Slavery Society, & assure them that their respect & esteem is most sincerely reciprocated.

My "heart was indeed cheered by the intelligence", that they have thrown open the door of the Society to persons of every colour, and I would say to them, go forward, with decision, in this noble enterprise.- Most heartily do I desire their prosperity, and although separated from them, still feel a deep interest.- Shall ever be glad to hear that they are making new & increasing efforts, to promote the cause of "suffering humanity," which is rapidly advancing. -- You will, also, present my thanks to them for their expressions of interest in my "future prosperity."- Be assured, my dear Miss Grew, that the cause is still near & dear to my heart, & altho' unable to do but little to advance it, I love to watch its progress & to do all in my power to promote it. The accounts we have from week to week are indeed cheering- Mr Phelps writes, that "the anniversary was most interesting."
